FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ALDILA® Debuts QUARANTA™ Sapphire Series

Carlsbad, CA (April 1, 2018) – ALDILA® has introduced the mid-launching, mid-spinning QUARANTA™ Sapphire Wood Series for the Asian market. Its smooth bend profile provides a responsive tip- and mid-section that is balanced by a more stable butt-section. This version is lighter weight and has a lower torque than the recently introduced QUARANTA™ Blue Series, and features premium ion plating and high-modulus MR70 carbon fiber that helps it launch lower, with a flatter ball flight.

Innovative, stable and precision-crafted, this improves on the original high-performance, sub-50-gram shaft. Typically ultralight shafts often give up strength, flex, torsional stiffness and overall stability. We incorporated our NexGen Micro Laminate Technology® (MLT), to provide the highest performance available in an ultralight shaft. By optimizing structure and material placement, the ALDILA® QUARANTA™ Series offers optimum flex and torque characteristics for better players while still maintaining the feel that players of all abilities need.

Who's it best for?

Players looking to maximize club head speed or launch at a higher trajectory without sacrificing stability.

Pricing & Availability

The new ALDILA® QUARANTA™ Sapphire Series will be available through ALDILA® authorized retailers and dealers nationwide, and has a suggested manufacturer's retail price of $350 USD.
